

I CAN FOLLOW THE SAFE PEDESTRIAN STEPS TO CROSS THE STREETS SAFELY

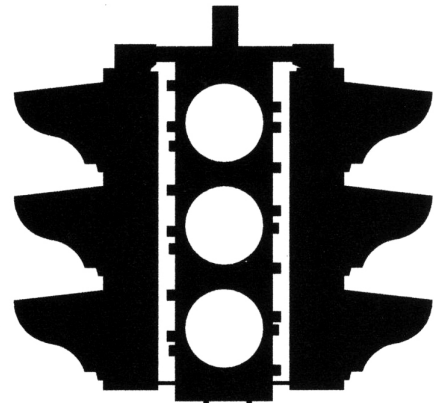

THE TRAFFIC LIGHT HELPS US TAKE TURNS CROSSING THE STREET

FOR DRIVERS:

Red means STOP.

Yellow means Change.

Green means GO.

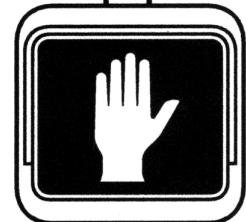

FOR WALKERS:

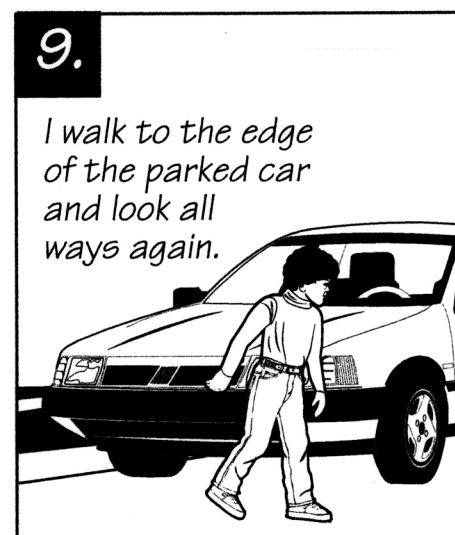

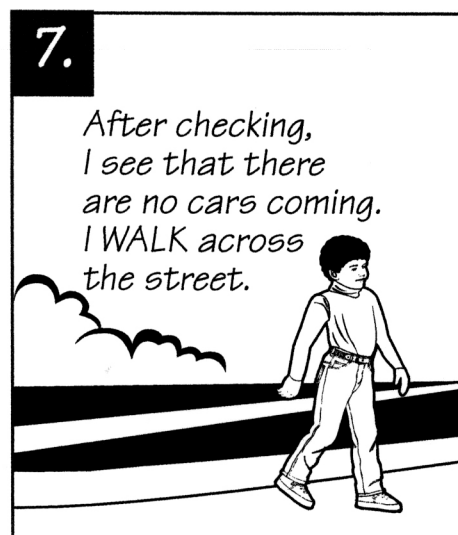

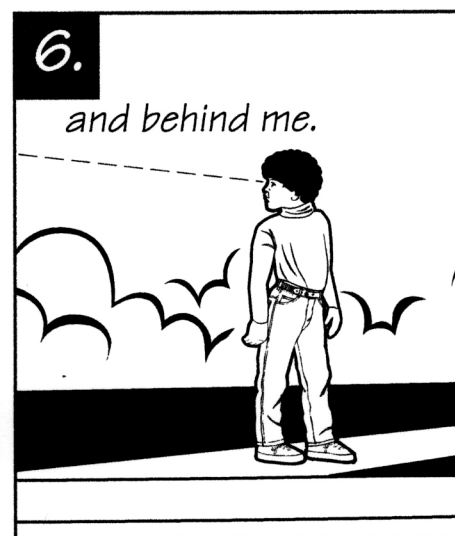

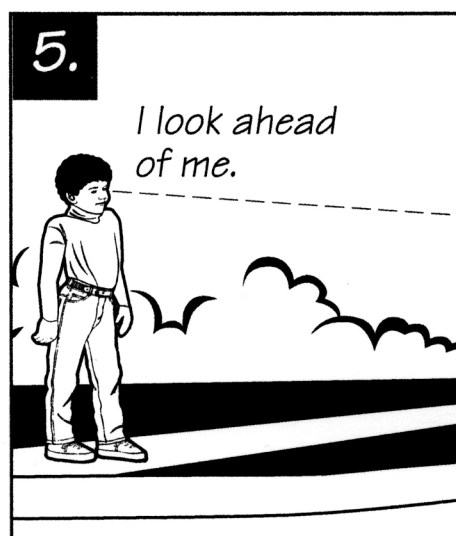

Don't Walk means
Don't Start.

Flashing or Blinking
'Don't Walk' means Don't Start.

Steady 'Don't Walk' means you should be out of the street.

Walk means Start.

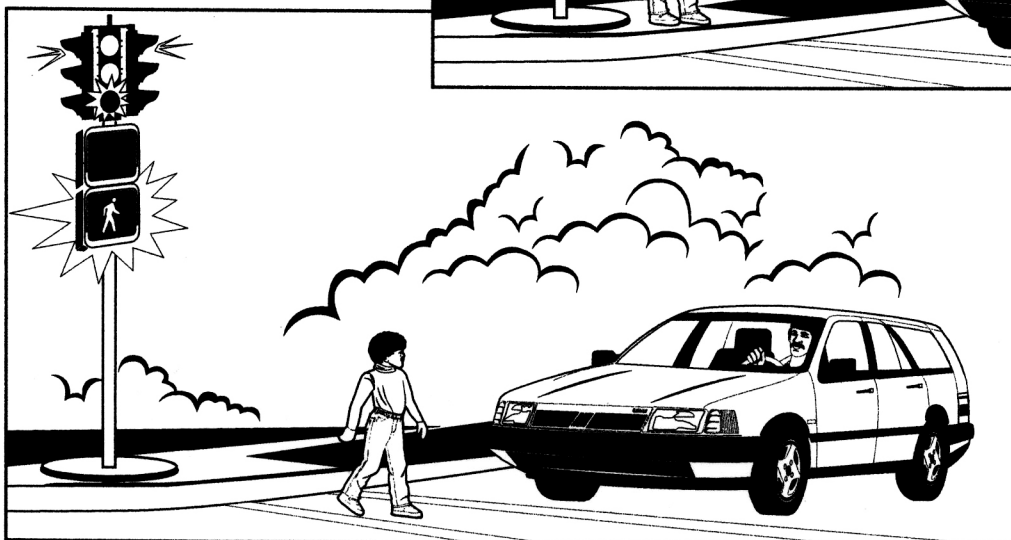

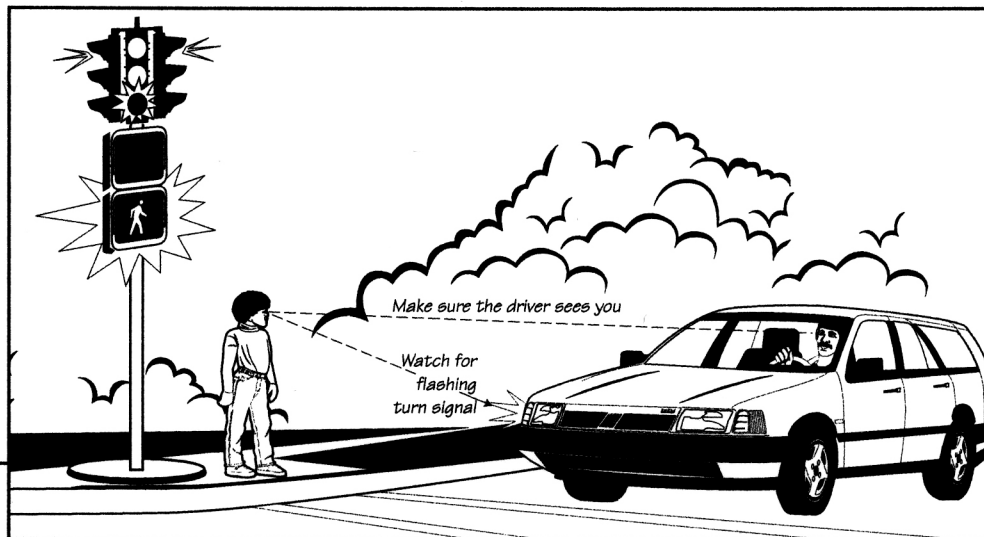

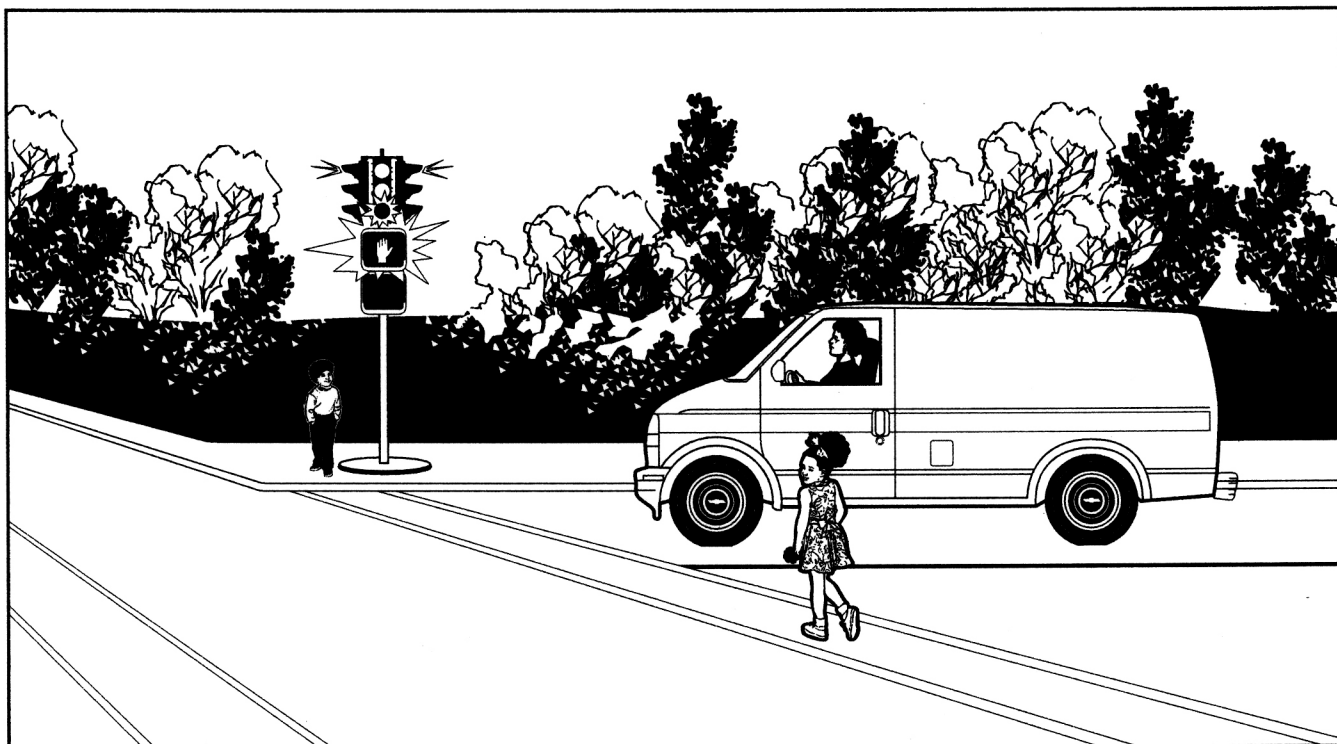

There are many traffic lights on a corner. I look at the one right across the street from me on the street I want to cross.

Walk means START— but first I make sure drivers are stopping for the red light, check for turning cars, check for drivers turning right on a red light & make sure they see me.

Then I walk across, but I keep looking as I cross.

Flashing Don't Walk means don't start crossing the street, but if I am already in the street I may finish crossing.

Steady Don't Walk means I should be out of the street. It is not my turn to cross anymore. To cross, I wait for a Walk sign.
